PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

“NOTABLE ST. LOUISANS IN 1900” needs little or no introduction or preface. It presents the portraits of 1,096 representative men of the fourth city of the United States. No work of this character can be absolutely complete, and in several cases names are unavoidably omitted owing to the impossibility of securing portraits, although the date of publication was delayed to obviate this as far as practicable. But between the covers of this volume will be found pictures of men who have distinguished themselves in all the leading professions as well as in manufacturing, wholesaling, jobbing and retailing.

Below each name will be found a brief title or description. For purposes of uniformity these titles are limited to two lines, and an effort has been made to select such descriptions as are most up-to-date and distinctive. To have enumerated every past and present office of some of those whose pictures are given would have required nearly a page of space, and would have changed the work from a portrait gallery to a collection of biographies.

An alphabetical index of portraits is appended. In the body of the work the classification is as accurate and complete as it was possible to make it, but in a city of aggressiveness and public spirit, in which the leading men rally round every movement for the common good, and where exclusiveness is the exception rather than the rule, no plan of classification by trades or professions can be invariably followed.

The portraits are uniformly good. More than 1,000 of them are from photographs taken expressly for this work by Mr. J. C. Strauss, who made a special sitting of each subject with but few exceptions. The half-tone engravings are by the Sanders Engraving Company of St. Louis, and the Columbia Engraving and Electrotype Company of Chicago.

The publishers are indebted to Mr. Joseph H. Barr and Mr. Joseph B. Widen, of Barr & Widen Mercantile Agency

Company for assisting in the preparation of this work and the selection of names appearing herein.

The typographical and press work by the Woodward & Tieman Printing Company will receive universal commendation. The binding is by the Beckett Printing and Book Manufacturing Company.

"NOTABLE ST. LOUISANS IN 1900" will be preserved as a work of reference for generations to come. Never before has so complete a work of reference of its kind been published in St. Louis, and it will be in almost daily use in newspaper offices and libraries, as well as in the homes of subscribers. As a portrait album alone, apart from its value as a work of reference, it is unique. Many of those who examine it will find accurate and artistic portraits of at least five hundred of their personal friends and acquaintances. To make such a collection in the ordinary way would involve weeks of labor and a large outlay of money.

No more appropriate year for the publication could have been selected. The last quarter of the century which is now in its closing year has seen St. Louis grow into a great metropolitan city. One after another Eastern rivals have been outdistanced both in population and manufactures. St. Louis has maintained its reputation for conservatism and financial solidity, and to these bulwarks of prosperity it has added aggressiveness and enterprise. The year 1900 finds it in the front rank as a commercial and financial center, and as a distributing point for goods of its own manufacture as well as for the pick of the world's markets.

When the States carved out of the Territory purchased by Thomas Jefferson decided to celebrate, by a World's Fair, the centennial of an event, aptly described as second only in importance to the signing of the Declaration of Independence, St. Louis was their unanimous choice for the site of the Exposition. In 1903 every civilized nation will be represented here, and to the visitors thus assembled as well as to those who entertain them, this work will be a source of interest as well as instruction.
